TO-DAY'S CABLES.

(Reuter's Service to the China Mail.)

LIQUOR CONTROL

GOVERNMENT WATCHING EXPERIMENTS

LONDON, Nov. 26.

Replying to a Temperance Deputation from the Churches the Premier announced that a Bill would shortly be introduced continuing the powers of the Liquor Control Board, establishing Commissions with real powers of control, which would keep local bodies up to the mark and would watch experiments in other countries, for example, prohibition in America and the effects of different methods of dealing with the drink question at home.

STRONGER MEASURES IN EGYPT.

THE SITUATION IMPROVES.

CAIRO, Nov. 26.

The situation has much improved as a result of stronger measures. The tone of the native press has considerably improved. Three further arrests have been made, including the nephew of the Nationalist leader.

THE CABLE SERVICE.

COMPLAINT OF MUTILATION.

LONDON, November 26.

In the House of Commons Sir William Cowan affirmed that Cables from Australia were now rarely transmitted without mutilation, necessitating repetition. Mr. A. H. Illingworth, replying, pointed out that the pressure on the cable which existed in wartime had not yet ceased, consequently the risk of error in transmission exceeded the normal, but there was no reason to think the percentage of errors had greatly increased. The cable authorities concerned assured him that every effort was being made to improve the service as regards both accuracy and rapidity.

THE MEXICAN WAY.

EL PASO, November 26.

General Felipe Angeles, who is Villa's chief lieutenant, has been sentenced to death by the Carranza Government at a court-martial. This was done in the evening; he was executed at dawn on the following day.

AMERICAN WAY WITH STRIKERS.

NEW YORK, November 26.

Sheridan, Wyoming, reports that the coalminers of Carneyville who refuse to return to work are being rounded up by United States soldiers and put in jail.

COURTS MARTIAL.

RECOMMENDATIONS ON PROCEDURE.

LONDON, November 26.

The Committee appointed to enquire into procedure of Military Courts Martial recommends the abolition of the Regimental Courts Martial. A minority report further recommends the abolition of District Courts Martial.

ANOTHER PROCLAMATION FOR THE IRISH.

LONDON, Nov. 26.

The Dublin Gazette publishes a proclamation which absolutely prohibits and suppresses Sinn Féin and kindred nationalist organisations throughout Ireland. Such bodies had previously been proclaimed as dangerous.

POTSDAM DEMONSTRATIONS.

CHEERS FOR MILITARISM.

BERLIN, Nov. 26.

There have been renewed Pan German demonstrations at Potsdam. Crowds assembled at Ludendorff's residence and cheered him, the ex-Kaiser and militarism. Ludendorff in a speech extolled the Prussian spirit.

SIR HENRY McCALLUM DEAD.

FORMERLY GOVERNOR OF CEYLON.

LONDON, November 26.

The death is announced of Col. Sir Henry McCallum, who was Governor of Ceylon from 1907-13. He went to the Straits Settlements in 1875 as private secretary to the Governor, Sir William Jervois, retaining that position for two years, and during the next year, 1877-78, was Superintendent of Admiralty Works, Hongkong. He later became a member of the Legislative and Executive Councils of the Straits Settlements and was Comptroller of the Singapore Volunteer Garrison. He was Governor of Newfoundland from 1895-1901 and of Natal from 1901-1907. He was decorated with the C.M.G. in 1887; K.C.M.G. in 1898, and G.C.M.G. in 1904.

INTERNATIONAL LABOUR CONFERENCE.

GERMANY OFFICIALLY REPRESENTED.

WASHINGTON, November 26.

The International Labour Conference has agreed on the membership of the governing body of the International Labour Office, a permanent body sitting at the seat of the League of Nations to discuss international labour problems. Twelve Governments will be officially represented, namely Belgium, France, Britain, Italy, Japan, Germany, Switzerland, Spain, Argentina, Canada, Poland, and Denmark, the last named pending the appointment of a representative of the United States. India contended that no decision could legally be made because the Council of the League of Nations had not yet pronounced on the protest against the organisation. Mr. Crawford Gommell, South Africa, protested against the method of selection of the governing body.

A LABOUR VICTORY.

LONDON, November 26.

The by-election at Chester le Street resulted as follows:
Mr. Lawson (Labour) 17,638
Mr. Gilmore (Democrat) 5,513

H. B. H.

STARTS FOR HOME.

HALLIFAX, November 26.

The Prince of Wales has departed and is expected at Portsmouth on December 1.

FIRE ON DANISH STEAMER.

PORT SAID, November 25th.
The Danish steamer Notaf, from Singapore to Copenhagen, arrived at Suez with her cargo on fire in No. four and five holds, containing 1,640 tons of copra. A survey will be held.

THE PEACE TREATY.

PARIS, November 24th.

A Havas message says:—
French circles follow with closest interest the development of the debate on the Peace Treaty in the American Senate. The French people, as a whole, think that rejection of the Treaty is "incredible." Financial circles realise that rejection will mean the complete collapse of inter-Allied trade and the world's financial system and, therefore, still hope that some compromise will be found to satisfy the American Senate without destroying the Treaty of Versailles.

Much comment has arisen by the dilatory tactics of the German delegates for the ratification of the Peace Treaty. Instead of signing the protocols, they left Paris to submit the clauses to their Government. This will postpone the ratification of the Treaty formerly announced for December 1st.

STRASBOURG UNIVERSITY.

PARIS, November 24th.

A Havas message says:—
The official inauguration of Strasbourg University took place to-day, President Poincaré performing the ceremony on the anniversary of the day the French troops entered Strasbourg after the Armistice.

FRENCH CITIES HONOURED.

PARIS, November 24th.

A Havas message says:—
President Poincaré conferred, to-day, on the city of Metz, the Cross of the Legion of Honour. He afterwards went to Pont à Mousson, which received the War Cross.

THE FRENCH CHAMBER.

PARIS, November 24th.

A Havas message says:—
A number of the youngest members of the old Chamber, in addition to a number of newly elected Deputies, contemplate the foundation of a Group with new methods and a new spirit, excluding ex-presidents, ex-members of the Ministry and ex-political leaders. Its action will be rather moral and economical than political. It will urge, principally, economical reconstruction and union in France.

ENEMY PRISONERS IN SIBERIA.

LONDON, November 25th.

In the House of Commons replying to Commander Kenworthy, Sir Hamar Greenwood stated that there were about 140,000 Austrian prisoners in Siberia at present.

The Supreme Council in Paris are taking steps to repatriate all enemy war prisoners in Siberia as soon as the Allied forces have evacuated.

EGGS.

LONDON, November 25th.

The Food Controller has fixed the retail price of Chinese eggs, which are arriving in England in large quantities in good condition, at 4d. each.

WEDDING.

WANG CHU.

At the Union Church on Saturday, a very pretty wedding was solemnized, the parties being Miss Jessie Chu, daughter of Mr. S. P. Chu of Shanghai and Dr. C. C. Wang, M. D. Z. Ch. (Edinburgh) formerly Research Fellow of the Edinburgh University and late lecturer on Anatomy at the University of London. The bride who was given away by Mr. Wong Yung Tai, Secretary to the Salt Commission at Canton was beautifully adorned in a dress of apple-green embroidered satin with tinsel trimmings. She wore a tulle veil and a wreath of orange flowers, and carried a bouquet of white chrysanthemums and maiden-hair ferns. The bridesmaids were Miss Po Ching grand-daughter of the late Minister Sir Chen Tung Liang Cheng K.C.M.G.; K.C.V.O., Miss Shan Hiran Yui, Miss May Lau and Miss Jennett Chu. The duties of best man were performed by Mr. Liang Sai Yan, who was assisted by Mr. Yung Au Fan. The Rev. Dr. T. W. Pearce, L.L.D. performed the Service, with the assistance of the Rev. J. Kirk Macnachie. After the ceremony at the Church a reception was held at No. 9 Robinson Road, the residence of Mrs. Ng. It was largely attended, and after the toast of the Bride and Bridegroom was honoured, the happy couple left for Whampoa Canton, where the honeymoon is being spent. They will be the guests of Mr. Liang Hsun the former Charge d'Affaires at Mexico and Consul-General at Manila. Many valuable presents were received.

TO THE

OWNERS OF DOMESTIC BUILDINGS.

TAKE Notice that under No. 3 of the Domestic Cleanliness and Ventilation By-Laws (as amended), every domestic building or part of such building within the Eastern Division of the City of Victoria, and the Eastern Division of Kowloon and New Kowloon, occupied by more than one family, except those within the European Reservation or in Kowloon south of Austin Road or those parts of a Domestic Building used as a Shop, Office or Godown, must be cleaned and lime-washed throughout by the owners during the months of October and November.

N.B.—The word "Throughout" used in this Notice means that the houses should be lime-washed in respect of all walls of each room, all cubicles, partitions, stair-casings, and stair-linings, all ceilings, and the undersides of roofs in main building, offices, and servants' quarters and inclusive of verandahs.

The Backyard must have its containing walls lime-washed up to the level of the first floor.

Carved painted or polished woodwork in good condition, however, need not be lime-washed, but must be cleaned.

The Eastern Division of the City of Victoria is bounded on the West by Gillman Street and Peel Street.

Kowloon is divided into the Eastern and Western Divisions by Nathan Road and a straight line drawn from the North and through the Yau-wai service reservoir to the Northern Boundary of Kowloon.

ENGLISH AND KURDISH.*A QUESTION FOR THE PHILOLOGISTS.

BY DR. A. MINGANA (OF THE RYLANDS LIBRARY, MANCHESTER).

It is well known that the English language belongs to the Indo-European, Aryan, or Indo-Germanic group, and is thus affiliated to the Teutonic, Italic, Hellenic, and Balto-Slavonic dialects, which, in their turn, are akin to Iranian and some of the North Indian dialects.

In opening any English dictionary which professes to give the derivation of any word, one notices that most of the concrete words are referred back to Old English, Norse, and other Teutonic languages, while most of the abstract words are referred back to Old French, Latin, and Greek.

Besides the structure of a language, it is thus its concrete words, rather than its abstract words, that establish its kinship with other languages.

English does not stand alone in possessing a double vocabulary. Persian is in a similar position and for similar reasons, for she, too, was conquered by a foreign people at an early date in her history.

When the Semitic Arabs conquered Persia in the seventh Christian century, they left on the genius of her language a mark which she will never obliterate unless very drastic measures are taken. About two-thirds of the abstract and one-third of the concrete terms of Persian are derived from Arabic, although Arabic belongs to an entirely different family. To establish affinity between two languages it is necessary to neglect almost entirely the abstract words of both, because these were generally borrowed from a more civilised nation endowed with a previously acquired literature.

The peoples who have more tenaciously preserved the purity of their language are generally those who had less intercourse with the outside world; for instance, is not Arabic although the latest in the field, the purest and the oldest of the Semitic languages because the Arabs had in antiquity less dealing with foreign peoples than the Assyrians, Arameans, Hebrews, and Ethiopians? Within the Persian family there is a powerful and numerous clan, commonly called Kurds. These half-primitive Kurmanjis (as they call themselves) lead a distinct tribal life, and dwell mainly in the country, known on the maps as Kurdistan, but their settlements extend as far west as Cilicia and Central Anatolia. In their long history they have had no empire, although they struck independent blows for the overthrow of many empires; they have had little dealing with tribes foreign to themselves, although their predatory instincts sometimes marked them as the pest of neighbouring peoples; they have nearly always been independent, although from the data furnished by geographical atlases one is wrongly induced to believe that they have alternately been Parthian, Sassanian, Roman, Arab, and Turk. Apart from some tribal songs, they have never had any literature worth mentioning. If, therefore, in the primitive language of these tribes who belong to the Indo-European family one finds a considerable number of concrete words in daily use which with slight and insignificant variations are phonetically identical with the corresponding words of another language, one is led to believe that at some period of their history there might have been closer ties of relationship and more intimate linguistic connections between the two than is generally supposed.

Towards the end of 1915 I was asked by the War Office to write a practical English-Kurdish and English-Syriac vocabulary for the use of troops fighting in the Near and Middle East. In performing this duty I noticed that many Kurdish words were almost similar to their English equivalent. I collected many such roots to satisfy a natural curiosity. I will give below some of these roots for purposes of comparison, but as English philology is not my speciality, and as my only authorities on this matter are the well-known works of Webster, Skeat, Murray, and others, I shall be thankful if a specialist in English will come forth and show the intrinsic merits and demerits of my comparisons. I am preparing for a later study a complete list of these Perso-Kurdish terms, in which every word will be discussed at some length, but before venturing into a new sphere of scientific groupings I most earnestly appeal for a reasoned and healthy criticism. The subject appears to me to be of importance in many respects, and little did I think in writing the Kurdish vocabulary that I was ushering British heroes into a new philological school of the origin of words.

THE WOODEN HOUSE "STUNT."

"It was always yet," says Falstaff, "the trick of our English nation, if they have a good thing, to make it too common." That is what we should do now in the wooden house line if some of our inflators of "stunts" and "booms" could get their own wild way. A wooden house, if well built of good wood, may be quite a good house, with points of its own and drawbacks of its own, and our building by-laws have gone too far in banning it altogether. But let nobody think we are going to solve the whole housing question by building houses of wood because they have seen attractive wooden houses in Alpine valleys or on the verge of Canadian forests, or a few beautiful ancient ones in English towns, or because a great many soldiers in training found life tolerable in wooden huts during the war. To make a good house of wood you must do what we cannot do now; you must lavish the material as our builders in wood did when the Forest of Dean and the Forest of Arden were forests still and fine oak could be had almost for the cutting. Among building materials William Morris placed stone first, timber second, and brick third, and if any man who knew his way in architecture would have wished to revive building in timber it surely would have been Morris. "I think," he said, "there is nothing more beautiful than a beautiful 'wooden house,' but he came ruefully to the conclusion that 'we must at present put the use of wood clean out of the question.' Since he wrote we have proceeded pretty steadily with the process of deforestation, without compensatory afforestation, that has been going on all over England since the Picts, or whoever the oldest inhabitants were, made the first clearings among the oak trees for their swine. During the war the rate of this destruction became a gallop.

English.	Perso-Kurdish.
patch	patch, or pat
run	rawin
send	shend
shiver	shiwir (to be terrified)
star	star
tag	tak
thunder	dunder

The list can be increased by scores of other words, which we deemed useless to put down for the present. I must, however, add a final remark. In my comparisons I have noticed two phonetical features worth mentioning here: (a) the Perso-Kurds have a certain dislike for words beginning with W, which they often change into G—e.g., garn, for warm; girm, for worm; &c. (b) they also associate the letter D at the end of many words—e.g., lao, for lad; shwor, for sword, &c.

THROUGH WOMAN'S EYES.

ST. ANDREW'S BALL AS SEEN BY OUR LADY CONTRIBUTOR.

Your male reporters have left nothing for me to say about the decorations, the supper, the band, and the pipers. I had better tell you what I overheard as I wandered round, of all those genuine criticisms and appreciations that come when the reporter's note book and pencil are not observed. These are plentiful where hundreds of my sex are got up to km, especially when most of them must have bought their armour at the same shop. Had I been commissioned to do the official report for you, it would have annoyed me to have had to take down the names of a committee on which the female element was conspicuous by its absence. Where could women be more useful than on a ball committee? As it stands, the list is amusing. The ladies' cloak room and supper committees, essentially feminine spheres of interest and activity, were entrusted to mere males. No wonder that the poor things forgot to provide us with hairpins, or with facilities to use the liberal supply of powder that some quasi-thoughtful fellow did manage to think of. Sandwiches gave out quite early, though there was no shortage of drinks. Women on the committee would have adjusted that. But I have never been in a town where in the business of life the women took such a back seat as they do in Hongkong. Is it because their men folk are so chivalrous that they want to save them from wear and tear, or is it because they fear we would quarrel over precedence and position? Whatever the reason it is wrong. Women don't want to be merely parasites, nor absorbed exclusively in frills and furbelows. Such opportunities for usefulness would help to save their conversation from becoming slightly feline.

There were no dresses at the Ball that require individual description; but here are some remarks I overheard.

That there was too much hem stitch and cheap fringe.

That perhaps the best clothes are being kept for private shows; a crush at the City Hall is not good for a good frock.

That there will be a better display when we get the better Hall.

That one smart and pretty woman said: Why waste one's newest and best in a hall that hasn't been swept or dusted for five years.

That women on the committee would have thought of a good spring cleaning as a preliminary to decoration.

That "careful" is the chronic caution-word here, and you cannot have a laugh without risking your husband's career.

That the wife of a new taipan mustn't be offended.

The reels provided plenty of amusement, some of the performers taking them very seriously. The pipers were grand. Our own wee piper was as usual the pet of the evening; the rakish set of his glengarry was warranted to make the least susceptible female heart go pit-a-pat.

There was one moment of tense excitement when a killed Scot landed on his back. We all rushed to pick him up. That was before supper.

Everyone noticed and admired the dancing of the younger members of the two services. Their uniforms did much to make the scene brighter.

During supper the music of the Indian pipers was heard, and wonderful powers of endurance and self-control were noted.

All night long the Peak resounded with trams bringing up late revellers.

CHINESE TELEGRAMS.

THE FOOCHOW OUTRAGE.

SHANGHAI, November 30.
The Japanese Warships are very active in Fukien waters. Searchlights are staring into the city all the night. Marines roam about the City in companies, guided by the Japanese enigrants there. It is feared that unhappy consequences may be repeated again.

The foreign minister has demanded of the Japanese minister at Peking the withdrawal of the marines and warships but unsuccessfully so far.

All the people of the various provinces are very indignant over the Foochow outrage and telegrams are pouring into the Capital asking for strong resistance to Japanese encroachments.

SNOW AT HANKOW.

Snow fell at Hankow yesterday to a depth of two feet.

THE MONGOLIAN LOAN.

The Government has bought 25,000,000 roubles to repay to Russia the loans owed by outer-Mongolia.

THE SHANTUNG QUESTION.

The parliament at Peking had a telegram sent to the American senate thanking the latter for reserving the three clauses re Shantung in the peace treaty.

MORE STUDENTS' DEMONSTRATIONS.

PEKING, Nov. 29.
A large number of students gathered together at the Tin On Gate, Peking to-day to discuss the necessary steps to be taken in connection with the recent Foochow Affair. They assembled again in the afternoon marching along the street. They were headed by a banner with the inscription "in spite of Japanese violence we will not submit." Leaflets were freely distributed and speeches were made. They maintained good order.

THE RUSSIAN PROTEST.

The Russian Minister at Peking has lodged a protest over Mongolian Affairs. The Minister of Foreign Affairs proposed not to take any notice of it.

THE NEW CABINET.

PEKING, Nov. 29.
All the ministers of Kan Wan Pang's Cabinet were passed by the Lower House yesterday with the exception of the agricultural and Commercial Minister, Mr. Chang Chi Tam, and the Educational minister, Mr. Ha Sau Hong. The number of members voting was 253. The passed ministers are as follows:—

Foreign, Mr. Luk Ching Chang by 211 votes.

Interior, Mr. Tin Man Lieh by 198 votes.

War, General Kan Wan Pang by 202 votes.

Navy, Admiral Sah Chun Ping by 233 votes.

Finance, Mr. Li Sze Hoo by 232 votes.

Justice, Mr. Tsu Sum by 200 votes.

Communication, Mr. Tsang Yuk Chun by 209.

We also heard the usual altercations over chair fares, some of the male voices being painstakingly logical and just a little queer in enunciation. I am told that an eightsome was danced at the lower tram station at 3 a.m. All of which, and much more that it would be indiscreet to print, indicates that Caledonia is not so stern and wild that it cannot let itself go on the gay side, at least yince in the year.

TRADE WITH CHINA.

A FEW HINTS BY DR. MORSE.

LONDON, November 30.

A paper on British trade in China was read before the Royal Society of Arts by Doctor H. B. Morse, late statistical secretary of the inspectorate-general of Chinese customs. He declared that it would be difficult to dislodge Japan from the very strong position she has acquired in the Chinese market. It would be long before British mills could furnish the supplies demanded and before the necessary tonnage would be available. Much strenuous effort would be required to reconquer the lost and to re-establish the imperilled markets. Co-operation, amalgamation, and alliance must be the British traders' watchwords in the future. Dr. Morse contrasted the leisureliness of the British system of consular reports with the speediness of the American system. The China consular service required special training, owing to the difficulties of the language and the complicated nature of the duties arising from the extra-territoriality of Europeans. He suggested an arrangement whereby each year there would be one British commercial attache in the treaty ports; another in the interior of China, and a third travelling in Europe and America studying the production and sale of goods for China. The functions of these three should be interchanged yearly. He pointed out that the British system of weights and measures and currency was an obstacle to British trade. He urged that Chinese students should be induced to come to England. As regards advertising, trade museums were good but travellers with plenty of free samples were better. The Middlemen in China, namely, the old established firms knowing China's requirements, were indispensable but should be supplemented and stirred up to be modern.

CHINA, TIBET, AND INDIA.

DELHI, November 30.

The Government of India has issued a contradiction of the numerous rumours that the Tibetan government intends to invoke the aid of Nepal and Bhutan durbars in the event of Tibet becoming hostile to China. The government states that complete quiet prevails on the Chinese Tibetan frontier. Since the armistice there has been a temporary suspension of the settlement of the Sino-Tibetan question. The rumours probably started in Peking.

CRIMINAL SESSIONS.

THE INDIAN MURDER CASE.

The November Criminal Sessions were resumed this morning before Mr. Justice Gompertz.

Bahadar Singh was charged with the murder of Such Singh, a private in the H.K.S.B., R.G.A., on September 8 last year.

Accused pleaded not guilty.

The Acting Attorney General, the Hon. Mr. H.E. Pollock, K.C., instructed by the Crown Solicitor, Mr. G.H. Wakeman, appeared for the prosecution, and Mr. F.C. Jenkin, C.B.E., instructed by Mr. J. H. Gardiner defended.

The jurymen were Messrs. Won Kwong-tin, U. M. Omar, S. Greenfield, R. M. Austin, L. A. Silva A. H. da Silva and P. J. Taylor.

Opening the case for the Crown, the Acting Attorney General said the defendant in this case was charged with the crime of wilful murder alleged to have been committed by him on the early morning of the 8th September at about 1.30 at Whitfield Barracks, in Kowloon. The murder took place inside the barrack room which was occupied by a number of men belonging to the H.K.S.B., R.G.A. The chief witness for the prosecution was Dewa Singh, who would speak to the fact that he was asleep in the barracks that morning and that the deceased was asleep in the bed next to his. This witness, Dewa Singh, was awakened by the sound of blows as if someone was being struck. He then saw the accused standing on the far side of deceased's bed, that was between the bed and the window. Dewa Singh then got up and called out that Sucha Singh had been struck by Bahadar Singh. In his evidence he would tell the jury that he saw the accused holding an iron bar (produced). He also at the same time saw that blood was flowing from the head of the deceased. He then saw the accused walk across to his bed with the iron bar in his hand and throw it out of the window. At the same time he noticed Sucha Singh sitting up in his bed. The iron bar was picked up by another witness outside the window. The evidence of Dewa Singh was corroborated by two witnesses, Gurdit Singh and Khir Singh. With regard to the accused having had the piece of iron in his hand and having flung it out of the window this evidence was also corroborated by Gurdit Singh. A report was made to Havildar Kishen Singh who who came on the scene somewhere about 1.45 a.m. He went into the barrack room and there he saw the deceased lying on his bed bleeding from his head. He was informed that deceased had been struck by the accused, but he simply denied the charge and said "I did not do it." Later the accused was brought before the Adjutant, Capt. Evenden, and made a certain statement, which he, the Attorney General, would not disclose to the jury at that stage.

Mr. B. C. Jenkin: I shall not object to the statement being disclosed at this stage.

The Attorney General then read out the statement of the accused

SENSATION AT CENTRAL POLICE STATION.

ALLEGED DEFALCATIONS IN ACCOUNTS DEPARTMENT.

Considerable excitement was caused at the Central Police Station, this morning, by the discovery of alleged defalcations on the part of the Chief Accountant. We understand that the Captain Superintendent of Police, with a chartered accountant has been investigating matters throughout the morning and that a consultation was held with the Colonial Treasurer this afternoon. The Chief Accountant, it is alleged, has absconded.

A small fire occurred yesterday morning at about 11 o'clock in the premises the Government Opium factory at Tin Lok Lane, Wanchai. The stairs leading to Chinese quarters on the first floor were burned away but the outbreak was got under control before the arrival of the Fire Brigade.

who said "At about 1.45 a.m. on the 8th September Dewa Singh sat up in his bed and shouted out that the deceased had been struck. Several men sat up in their beds. I then got out of bed. Dewa Singh accused me of striking the deceased. I rendered assistance to the deceased by giving him water. Dewa Singh called out my name several times saying "You have struck the deceased." I denied this. Proceeding the Attorney General said it was curious that at that time the accused did not make any statement incriminating anybody else. He went into various details as to what he saw, but he did not accuse anybody else of having struck accused. The unfortunate man who was struck, as far as could be gathered, did not recover consciousness and died on the 11th. September. Subsequently, when charged the accused said "I did not kill or strike the deceased. He was killed or struck by Dewa Singh. Dewa Singh falsely accuses me of it. The jury would see that four days after the occurrence, the accused did not merely deny the charge but said that Dewa Singh did it. He thought those were the main facts for the prosecution. Evidence was then taken. The case is proceeding.

THE VLADIVOSTOCK REVOLUTION.

QUELLED BY ALLIED REPRESENTATIVES.

LONDON, November 26. With reference to the report from Washington on November 19 that a revolution had broken out in Vladivostok and that the state Department learned that only Russians were involved, Reuter's correspondent at Peking writing on November 18, says: Allied Representatives to-day quelled an extensive revolutionary movement at Vladivostok in which Guida, the ex-Czech leader, is implicated, aiming at an agreement with the Bolsheviks and the formation of a Siberian Constituent Assembly. A smaller similar movement was suppressed at Irkutsk.

MR. DOYLE IS HERE.

THIS STORY TELLS YOU WHY.

Arriving via Japan-Korea, Shanghai, Peking and Manila, the most popular and prominently known man in the Far East is a guest at the Hongkong Hotel. It is Chester A. Doyle, who every one knows, for no traveller or tourist who has come or gone to America via Honolulu and the Hawaiian Islands but has either met or has been entertained by this famous Bachelor and Bohemian, at his world famed home known as Nikko (which means sun shine in Japanese) and, where one will surely find it there for it is a place, where gloom and the blues are unknown, and happy, is the one who is invited to take of Mr. Doyle's lavish hospitality.

Mr. Chester A. Doyle has been engaged by Mr. Thomas J. Coleman, of the St. Francis Hotel San Francisco, Mr. James Wood and Mr. John Mc-T. Bowman of 6 of the most successful Hotel magnates of America to-day and who at an expense of twenty six thousand dollars have necessitated Mr. Doyle to visit every Manager of every Hotel, Tourist Bureau, Steamship and Ry official in Japan, China, Manila, Straits Settlements, Java, British India then down to Australia and New Zealand and Tahiti and extend to them the compliments and greetings of the Managers of the largest and most famous hostilities in the world—which he is their special representative, arranging for an exchange of guests, and letters of introduction—and a handling up of each ashore, advertising made free of charge. After he has completed his journey these Hotels will maintain him in their employ at Honolulu and there as he has done in past 30 years he will greet the coming tourist, and on their departure will arrange by cable for their accommodation at the Hotel St. Francis the largest and most beautiful Hotel on the Pacific Coast, to-day which is situated on Powell street, three blocks from Market street, faces due East, and covers the entire block between Geary and Post streets, overlooking Union Square. It is built of steel, Colusa, sandstone and brick, is fourteen stories high, contains one thousand rooms, and is the largest hotel in Western America. The public rooms are the most beautiful in any hotel in the world. The view from the roof embraces the entire business section of the city, the great sweep of San Francisco bay, Mt. Tamalpais to the north, and the cities of Oakland, Berkeley and Alameda to the east.

Its Italian Room, adjoining ball room, which with it is connected by hidden doors has walls and ceilings of wonderfully carved hazel wood, massive antique mantel of Italian marble, entrance of gleaming twisted pillars surmounted by a golden image. These rooms have no counterpart in America.

Mr. Thomas J. Coleman is its general manager, is considered one of the most successful hotel men of to-day, and a great favourite of the travelling public. He has a staff of three assistant managers Mr. Keating, Mr. Baad and Mr. Frosser.

The six hotels in New York for which Doyle is envoy are The Biltmore, Commodore, Belmont, Manhattan, Ansonia and Murray Hill. They are all in one combination with John McE. Bowman as President. They contain, aggregated, seven thousand rooms. They afford every type of first-class hotel accommodation. The Biltmore is John McE. Bowman's headquarters, and the world from which has sprung, full-grown, the other fragments of his active mentality. This is the house of society. The Cascades, dining rooms, tea rooms, cafes, humidor and Italian Garden ever present a kaleidoscope of animation. Here benefits, charities, teas, dances and military functions follow one another in rapid succession. In this house the mantle of new scene from "Madame Butterfly", musical with tiny twinkling waterfalls and fountains, miniature lakes alive with sportive goldfish, and innumerable esthetic suggestions of Dai Nippon, lies a Japanese sunken garden. Here, at night, countless varicolored electric lights, shining from most unlooked-for ambushes, reflect their radiance in the singing waters. Ferns and palms, sturdy dwarf trees and rare blossoming plants, made banks, borders and barriers of bewildering beauty while spreading vines, quilled by unseen wires, filter the moonlight and break the force of passing showers. By day the tropic sunbeams flit with cooling shadows; by night, toy stars wink merrily in a firmament of soothing green and drip their gentle twinkles upon an enchanting scene.

LIKE A RARE MUSEUM.

In the rear of the garden is a broad lanai, roofed with large fronds of coconut, and sometimes here, sometimes in one or the other of the two bungalows, the festive board "groans" under the good cheer so often set out to tickle the palates of travellers and other guests from near and far. On this verandah, and in these houses, are to be found enough curios, antiques, relics and historic souvenirs to stock an international museum. The visitor with difficulty suppresses a torrent of interrogations. But, let him be patient, for he may ask all the questions he has in mind, when he has been refreshed by Nikko's proverbial hospitality.

Chester Doyle came to Hawaii thirty years ago, when the government was a monarchy. Under numerous regimes—the rule of King Kalakaua and the reign of Queen Liliuokalani, and then the Provisional Government, the Republic of Hawaii, and finally the Territory of Hawaii, U. S. A.—he has been the official Japanese interpreter in addition to discharging other government duties, including many difficult and dangerous tasks involved in important criminal investigations among Orientals, handling all the Japanese murder and arson cases, and, incidentally, receiving the highest awards ever paid in Hawaii. For eight years he was criminologist in the office of the Attorney-General, the counties thereafter taking over the prosecution of their own cases. In 1909 he was appointed Deputy High Sheriff to handle the great strike of Japanese labourers on the sugar plantations, upon the termination of which he was sued for $50,000 damages for dynamiting a safe in the office of a Japanese newspaper to obtain documentary evidence which convicted the strike leaders. The suit was compromised. The largest capture of opium ever made in Hawaii was effected by Chester Doyle. It was the celebrated case of the schooner Labrador, from Victoria for Bonin Island. Three-and-a-half tons of "dope" were landed at Kula Island of Maui, and a company of Chinese rice planters were to be the recipients. The police captured the vessel and beached her. It was "up to" Doyle to discover the opium. He located it on the tiny isle of Kahoolawe, after a goodly share of romantic danger and thrilling adventures. He has made "extradition" trips, too; at one time bringing back to Honolulu a number of prisoners in forgery and bank robbery cases. In such matters he ever enjoyed the reputation of "getting his man."

When the bubonic plague hit Honolulu, in 1903, Doyle was placed in charge of some thirteen hundred Japanese and about seven hundred Chinese who had been burned out of "inatown." Plague-infected shacks were, in those days, burned by the Board of Health. One day a sanitary fire got out of control and a disastrous conflagration ensued. Doyle fed, clothed and managed this large refugee camp in a manner that won him the appreciation and formal thanks of the executive.

Bon vivant, raconteur, criminologist, epicure, philosopher, interpreter, amateur actor, booster, entertainer, Chester, he it known, is also a "legal light," having been admitted to practice twenty years ago. He is a member of the military order of the Royal Legion, and I came near forgetting—a humorist. From the Lambs Club, New York, to Colombo (via Honolulu, of course), and so on by way of London and back to Manhattan, there are always to be found world-travellers who will recount some one of Chester's famous adventures in "playfulness."

Chester's father went to Japan in the early 70s with the Pacific Mail S. Co. and later became superintending engineer to organize the Mitsui Bussan, the first Japanese steamship company. Chester was born in Charlestown, Massachusetts, but spent his youthful years in Japan. He completed his education at St. Mary's College, with Christian Brothers, in Oakland, California. After learning the custom-house brokerage business with John H. Boden & Co., 506 Battery street, he went to work with Col. W. D. Sanborn and T. D. Mackay in the passenger department of the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy Railway Co., later becoming city passenger agent of the Burlington Route, the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific, the Wabash, and the Oregon Development Company. Line of steamers, with Chrissy Haswell, and he enjoyed the distinction of being the youngest passenger agent on the Pacific coast. Chester was with Mark Lane in the Yosemite and Calaveras Big Tree Stage Line, in opposition to the Southern Pacific. His early familiarity with the mysteries of passenger traffic avails him much, now that continental hotel magnates have set him the task of teaching tourists how and where to travel.

Needless to say, Doyle goes upon his important business mission well supplied with identifications and endorsements. In Yokohama he was royally entertained and had the distinction of having the Royal prince H. I. H. Prince Fushimi send two of his emissaries Col. K. Tsuda his aide-de-camp and Mr. S. H. Tokioka attaché of the Minister of the Royal Household to the Grand Hotel to invite him to the Royal palace at Tokyo to be presented to the Emperor of Japan at the meeting of the Bonhaves of Japan at their annual meeting at Kyoto those present received a distinct surprise when calling upon Mr. Doyle for a speech he responded in excellent Japanese and won the hearts of the 62 guests present. He remains here only a few days—en route to India and Beyond and was royally entertained at Manila by the Government official, Steamship people and Manager of the Manila Hotel Mr. Butz to a number of very elaborate banquets.

TO-NIGHTS MEETING.

With regard to the meeting to be held at the house of Mr. B. L. Frost, this evening, some little apprehension seems to exist that there may be an attempt to make it more or less a secret discussion. We are assured that no such thing is contemplated and the details of the discussion will be published in the local Press, to-morrow. It is obvious that if a public meeting is to be convened some sort of a programme must be prepared to put before it. That is the sole object of the meeting.

SPIRITUALISM.

CHURCH CONGRESS CHALLENGE TO SIR CONAN DOYLE.

Spiritualism was the chief topic at the resumed Church Congress proceedings at Leicester on October 15.

The discussion was marked by a recognition of the importance of the subject, and at the close the Archbishop of Canterbury announced that it would be considered at the Lambeth Palace Conference next year. It had not, he said, been overlooked by the Church.

A paper on the Christian Doctrine of the Future, with Special Reference to Spiritualism, led to the discussion.

Dr. Inge, Dean of St. Paul's, was the first speaker. He said it was only in modern times, and most strongly in the half century before the war, that the belief in eternal life had lost its roots in the soul.

We could not go back to the crude eschatology of the past, but he need not warn Churchmen against the pitiable revival of necromancy, in which many desolate and bleeding hearts had sought a spurious satisfaction.

If this kind of after-life were true it would indeed be a melancholy postponement or negation of all that we hoped and believed about our blessed dead.

WAR LOSSES AND SPIRITUALISM.

The Dean of Manchester attributed the considerable development in the practice of spiritualism to the enormous and distressing loss of life in the great war. Dealing with professed communications from the departed, he referred to the late Mr. Stainton Moses. The heaven which appeared in his communications was the heaven of the Oxford movement, whereas the heaven which was portrayed in the "Raymond" communications was the heaven of modern theological liberalism.

(Laughter.)

Canon McClure next read a paper in which he held that the source of the spiritualism of today reached no further back than the middle of the 18th century and to the later views of the Swedish seer Emanuel Swedenborg.

He gave recent instances of the results of investigation, remarking that Mrs. Lennard's bricks, made of condensed gas, and her whisky, sodas and cigars, as in use in the spirit world, added to our perplexities. He regarded it as a danger to the mental sanity of the nation that necrotic persons be accepted as channels between the living and the dead. The Christian religion offered, in the Apostolic doctrine of the communion of saints, infinitely more solace to the bereaved than

FOOTBALL.

1ST DIVISION.

CLUB, 3; ST. JOSEPH'S 1.

Played on the Club ground on Saturday afternoon, this match proved to be more interesting than was anticipated. When the teams took the field, the contrast in bulk between the two teams was the subject of much comment on the part of the spectators many of whom were inclined to anticipate an uninteresting display of football and an easy win for the Club. This opinion proved to be wrong however, and the spectators were given an agreeable surprise when it was discovered, after a few minutes of play that the match promised to be fast and exciting. Although handicapped by the absence of the Xavier brothers, the Collegians had a fairly good side on the field, and this showed from the start that strong as the Club team was—they certainly had an unusually strong XI on the field for this match—the Collegians were not going to take a defeat lying down, and the business-like manner the way they played proved to be equal to their last season's form. The Club kicked off and immediately made a bee line for the College goal but Omar was safe between the sticks and determined not to let the ball get past him. Early in the game as it was, he won much well earned applause from the spectators for the creditable way in which he saved the situation by rushing out of goal and catching the ball in his hands, kicked it to midfield. Silva got possession and after an amusing little exhibition of footwork with Stewart, he beat that worthy by back kicking the ball to Urquhart who after kicking past Black, centered beautifully. Ogley who was playing centre forward was in a very favourable position but was prevented from scoring by Black who rushing up with the intention of robbing him of the ball, accidentally fouled him by charging back and sending Ogley sprawling on the ground just as he lifted his foot to administer the finishing touch to what would undoubtedly have been a sure goal. Unfortunately for the Club, this happened within the penalty area and the Collegians were awarded a penalty kick. Silva took the kick and shot the ball swiftly into the left corner of the net, giving Roger no chance. Thus the Collegians opened the scoring. From the kick off, the Club made another dash for the College goal and there Stewart tested Omar with a shot which would have been any moderate goal, but Omar was right on the spot immediately after the ball left Stewart's foot and punched away. Unfortunately for his side, however, the ball bounced to Reichelmann's feet and this worthy who is always dangerous when within range drove in one of his famous cannon ball shots, finding the net before Omar could get back into position. The Collegians again attacked after this and made several good tries to break through the Club's defence, but found Black and McCubbin as sound as a couple of brick walls. Before the respite, the Collegians were again called upon to defend their citadel and they did it quite well too. Once when Reichelmann got past Dixon, and sent in a terrific shot, Omar saved by throwing himself on the ground. For this performance, he again came in for a round of applause. The half time whistle which came a few minutes afterwards found the result on an equal standing.

The resumption proved to be just as fast and interesting as the first half of the game. Both sides, if anything, playing with net vigour. A lot of clever footwork was put in by both sides and this was much appreciated by the spectators who applauded. Sopher, the light College centre half, came in for his full share of the applause by his clever tackles and the smart way he stuck to and worried his men. Of course if the Club players wanted to they could easily have disposed of him, but they very sportingly refrained to use their weight and contented themselves with matching trick with trick and nine times out of ten Sopher managed to rob his opponent of the ball. After a while the Club learned to avoid him and relied on their wing to work the leather through. They pressed with determination and soon were testing Omar who had a very hot ten minutes with a rain of shots from various angles. Then in the middle of a melee in front of the goal mouth, the referee blew his whistle and awarded the Club a goal. There was a lot of discussion amongst the spectators however, as to the accuracy of the decision. Many were of opinion that the ball was not in goal. Omar caught it by a kick by Reichelmann, but it was so slippery that he could not keep hold of it and slipping from his hands, the ball rolled past him towards goal. Omar had the presence of mind however to rush back after it and kick it out before it got past the line and Dixon put it into touch. The Collegians however sportingly decided to abide by the referee's decision and refrained from protesting and the ball was once more centred. The struggle which followed after this was very interesting to watch, the ball being confined to midfield for a time, with both sides exchanging long shots. Then the Collegians again got going, and the combination they exhibited proved very encouraging. When the ball was passed to Urquhart, he saw Black tearing down the field towards him and in his attempt to put the ball past this defender, he misjudged the force of his kick and the ball rolled into touch before he could chase it up. Thus the Collegians missed a very good chance of equalizing. The Club took up the offensive after this and realizing that time was drawing near, they pressed hard and put in several good straight shots, but Omar was not caught napping and saved very creditably. Unfortunately for the Collegians however, in their eagerness to defend their citadel, no one gave a thought to Reichelmann, who was standing in a very good position ten feet in front of goal. Unmarked as he was when the ball came to him, he had not much difficulty in finding the net with a hard drive. This proved to be the Club's third goal and incidentally the last of the match, for the final whistle came a few minutes afterwards. Scored: Club 3; St. Joseph's 1.

SOUTH CHINA 1; POLICE 0.

The Police put up their best show so far against the Chinese on the Military ground on Saturday. They exhibited much improved football and made the Chinese go all out to secure their win. The Chinese combined better than the Police however, and really deserved the win. Despite the heavy rain, there was quite a big crowd to witness this match. Owing to the wet nature of the ground, the match did not prove very fast, and much difficulty was experienced with the ball which was heavy and slippery. For the first ten minutes of the match the Chinese played very aggressively and baffled the Police with their clever tricks. The fact that they did not score early was due to the good work of Clark and McWaters at back. One notices with appreciation how much this couple's form had improved since the opening of the league. A. Clark, the Police custodian, is also deserving of praise for the safe way in which he kept his goal, he too has improved considerably and learned one or two "tricks of the trade." During one of the Chinese attacks, one of their men was ruled off-side and the free kick had the effect of starting the Police on the war path. Alexander who was placed in possession, ran down the field, for a bit and then passed to McNab who in turn passed to the centre forward. This worthy trapped the ball in fine style, but shot wildly with the result that a good opening was lost. Play was confined to midfield for a good bit after this and a ding-dong struggle followed for supremacy, both forward strings including in clever footwork. The backs were playing soundly at both ends of the field however and the ball was every time sent back to midfield almost as soon as it came. Then the Chinese managed to evade the Police defence and stormed the citadel for a good three minutes, but were unable to net the ball. Just as their centre forward was in a very promising position, he was ruled off-side. The interval came with the score sheet blank.

The second half proved to be faster than the first and play was very exciting to watch. Having the wind in their favour, the Police made a dash for the Chinese territory and looked like scoring, but Millar had the misfortune of handling the ball when opposite the goal and thus missed a fine opportunity. A second attempt by the Police, resulted in their being awarded a penalty, one of the defenders handling the ball within the area. Millar took the kick and made a mess of the whole thing by shooting high, the ball going over the cross bar. The Chinese played with more "pep" after this and invaded the Police territory with such determination, that it became quite evident that the defence would be hard put to it to survive the attack. Wiggling in and out in lightninglike dashes, the Chinese forwards worked the ball to the goal mouth where it was sent into the net with a stinging shot which no goal-keeper could have saved—considering the range from which the ball was kicked. The referee however ruled the centre forward off-side and no score was registered. Not to be denied however, the Chinese brought the ball back and once more netted it. This goal was made possible by a fine piece of combination by the three inside men, who when tackled, winged the ball. It was immediately returned to Tin Kwan Shan on the right inside, and although in a difficult position, shot hard at goal and found the net. Although the Police made desperate efforts to equalize, this proved to be the only goal of the match.

NAVY 4; R.G.A. 2.

This match which was played on the Navy ground proved more exciting than many anticipated, and despite opinions expressed before the match, the sailors certainly did not have the game all their own way. The sailors who are still experimenting with their team, tried several new men on Saturday and this was one of the reasons why they had to play all they knew to beat the gunners. Amey had as his partner at back a burly man from the "Hawkins," a fellow named Edwards. This ship also supplied a half back in the person of Wilkins and an inside right in Harris. The "Alacrity's" contribution to the team was Thomas, a clever centre-half. Indeed, many called him the "star" centre-half of the Navy. For some unknown reason, however, he was placed at inside right. The Navy front line was made up as follows: Handford, Thomas, Graydon, Harris and Stone. It is certain that when the Navy next play, Thomas would be replaced on the forward line as he is essentially a half back. The gunners attacked immediately after the opening whistle, and the game had not progressed more than a few minutes when they opened the scoring. Green, their crack centre forward, finding the net with a hot shot, which Croker was unable to retain in his hands. The Navy forwards were very much stung by this reverse and made determined excursions into the gunners' territory, where Graydon equalized with a shot from close range. Stone scored the second goal for the Navy soon afterwards. Receiving useful help from his two inside partners, Graydon put in two more goals for his side before the interval. The score when the half time was called was 4 to 1 in favour of the Navy.

In the second half, the Navy's play fell off badly, and their forwards never seemed to do anything right. Their attacks lacked the dash so much in evidence in the first moiety, and every time they attempted an attack, they found themselves robbed of the ball by Talford or one of the two backs. They made little or no headway at all, very seldom getting beyond the half backs, and when they did so, they were either checked by the backs or one of them was ruled off-side. Many good chances were spoiled this way. The gunners on the other hand played better than in the first half, and gave the Navy defence much hard work. So discouraging was the sailors' play in fact, that the spectators were not beyond thinking that the gunners would not find much difficulty in discounting the three goals lead and snatch a win at the last moment. Green was conspicuous in his clever play and had it not been for Croker who was the only sound player in the Navy team at this time, would have scored several times. Talford also played well but always fell Green instead of trying himself. From one of these passes from Talford, Green noticed his second goal for his side. Although the gunners tried hard for the remainder of the match, they did not score. Croker always seemed to be at the right spot to catch the ball. Although the sailors left the field winners by four goals to two, they certainly have to play better than they did on Saturday if they want to keep up the good reputation last season's team had made.

2ND DIVISION.

INDIANS 1; SOUTH CHINA "A" 1.

After a series of defeats, the Indians managed a draw on Saturday in their match against the South China "A" team. The Chinese fielded their usual team while the ranks of the Indians were reinforced by Earde and Dyer, the latter making a fine come back in football after a lapse of several years. Earde who has so far confined himself to cricket, surprised the spectators by showing them that he is just as good at football. He combined well with Andree, the clever centre forward of the Indian team, whose only drawback is his weight. Another addition was A. G. Markar at extreme left, but it is said to say he proved a disappointment. Taking the play all round, the Indians really deserved a win and it is thought that had they played under better conditions they would have secured both points instead of having to divide them with the Chinese. A heavy ball and very slippery ground was very much against this light team. The Indians pressed from the kick off and for a while the Chinese citadel was in great danger, the spectators expecting a goal at any time. The Chinese had to play all they knew to prevent the downfall of their citadel. It took them fully ten minutes to find themselves and when they eventually got into their stride, the game became more even. As soon as they had awakened sufficiently, they began an attack by means of long and quick passes, and soon were in enemy territory. They remained there for a long time, testing the Indians' defence very severely. Hartman and Hyder showed up well in the defence of their citadel, but work hard as they did, they could not cope up with the elusive Ah Chan for long and this worthy scored the first goal of the match, and incidentally the only one for his side. This clever player scored from a beautiful pass by the left wing. Trapping the ball as it came from the other's foot, he dribbled past the backs and shot hard. The ball hit the post first and then slid into the net. The Chinese were leading when half time was called.

From the kick off at the resumption, the Indians again took the offensive and showed very convincingly their superiority. They did not take long to equalize. Getting possession of the ball at midfield, Andree made an in- and after beating the Chinese backs found the net without much difficulty. This goal was a very creditable one and won for the "scorer" much well earned applause. It was certainly a clever piece of individual work which secured that goal. The ball was confined to midfield after this and neither side made headway for a while. Then a test of footwork followed, in which both sides showed up well. It was quite evident to the spectators that both teams were determined to secure the winning goal. Andree and Earde combined well on several occasions but the Chinese had already learned to watch them and they were unable to do much, being weaker at every turn. The Chinese attacks were checked by Ali Salim and Hyder without much difficulty. The Indians exhibited some very tricky play which proved new to the Chinese and on several occasions had the defence guessing to expect what was coming next. In doing this however, the Indians sacrificed combination and this had the effect of spoiling several good openings. Towards the close, Andree evaded his shadowers on two occasions and looked like repeating his earlier performance but shot wide on the first attempt. He was awarded for his pains in the second attempt and actually netted the ball, but one of his side was ruled off-side by the referee. The closing few minutes were very exciting, but the match closed with a draw.

UNITED F.C. 3; SOUTH CHINA "B" 1.

Like the other Chinese team, the South China "B" team did not score more than once in this match. The United F.C., which is a plucky young combination, which deserved better success than they had hitherto met with, deserve to be congratulated for their first win of the season. They are improving in form very fast and when they have gained more experience, can look forward to a better time. They ought to be a pretty tough combination by the end of the league. In fact if they keep up the form they showed on Saturday, there is no reason why they should not win a couple more matches before the close of the season. The other Chinese team should not prove more difficult to beat than the one they have so convincingly beaten. The Chinese was certainly the worse team of the two, but one is inclined to think that the weather condition had much to do with the bad show they put up. The United scored three goals in the first half, they came in very close proximity of each other. Chubb was responsible for the first two while J. Marshall registered the third.

In the second half the Chinese improved their form and the match was a bit more balanced. In spite of their many attempts, however, they could not secure more than one goal, and that too was through a penalty kick. The final whistle found the ball in the United territory with the Chinese working hard to reduce the lead, but Blake and Mason at back and McLeod in goal defended in very creditable style. The latter saving one or two possible scores by rushing out of goal in the nick of time. The showing of the United team was on the whole very creditable.

CLUB DE RECREIO 3; ST. JOSEPH'S 1.

St. Joseph's second string who met Club de Recreio on the Club ground before the first division match, were defeated, like their big brothers, to the tune of three goals to one. There was not the least rivalry between the opposing teams and the game was therefore not very exciting. The Portuguese was by far the superior team and attacked the College territory immediately after the opening whistle. Hyndman cut through the College defence without much difficulty and scored the first goal before the match was three minutes old. A long spell at midfield followed, and then, when it was nearing half time, Ismail who was playing a sound game at back, ran down the field with the ball and after getting past the Portuguese defence, shot across goal. No one was in position to do the needful however, and V. Xavier cleared. Then someone on the College side drove in a high and swift kick which slipped into the net between the Portuguese goalies' outstretched arms. The first half closed with the score standing at one all.

The Portuguese increased the pace in the second half, and pressed the College goal with keen determination but Silva saved several hot shots in fine style. Then Ismail relieved the pressure by kicking the ball to midfield. J. Lima stopped the ball in its flight however, and made an individual run towards the College goal finishing up with a weak shot. Silva ran out to kick away but missed the ball which rolled between his legs towards the goal. He rushed back to recover it but had the mortification of seeing it roll over the line just as he got to it. There is no doubt that the Portuguese secured the lead by a stroke of good luck. The Collegians made strenuous efforts to equalize and on several occasions looked like doing so, but V. Xavier at left back and his cousin in goal were very sound games. The Portuguese pressed again after a while and did all they knew to secure another goal, but were for a long time prevented from scoring by the College defence who were playing the game of their lives. Ismail was conspicuous for his clever tackles and hefty kicking. Conceicao got possession and shot hard at goal. Silva was on the right spot when the ball came, but it was so slippery that he could not hold it in his hands. It shot upwards as he grabbed it and bounced into the net over his shoulder. The match ended with a win for the Portuguese by three goals to one.

BOXING.

A TOURNEY FIXED FOR DEC. 13.

The newly-formed Boxing Association is starting business almost as soon as it has been formed. Local followers of the "manly art" of self-defence, will be interested to note that the officials of the Association have arranged a boxing tournament for December 13. This was made possible, by the fact that the "Hawkins" has postponed for a couple of days her departure for Singapore. The Association has already concluded arrangements to stage the boxing at the Theatre Royal and it only remains for the public to give their support by turning up in full force. The proceeds of this meeting will, after defraying expenses, be dedicated to charity. What a good opportunity for killing two birds with one stone! Messrs. Jenkins and Wildin and other officials are to be congratulated for the business-like manner they went about organizing the Association and then follow up closely on the heels of its inauguration, with the announcement of the forthcoming treat. This is really a ripping example of how a well-chosen body of men can "hustle" when they want to. In Hongkong where everything takes ages to do, this exhibition of energy is very refreshing.

The main event of the tournament will be a contest for the welter-weight championship of the Colony between "Sky" Kerrison (holder) and Seaman Walters, H.M.S. "Hawkins" (challenger). "Sky" who has recently returned from the war, where he left behind his left thumb, is in fine trim, after a lot of hard training at the Naval Yard, starting almost immediately after his return to civil life. His supporters are confident of his winning this bout. Despite the loss of his thumb, Kerrison can hit hard with his left hand, and it is thought that the handicap would not interfere much with his boxing. Walters, who is a stranger in the Colony, has a very good home reputation. He is considered to be a budding welter-weight, and it is claimed for him that he sent Young Ahearn, who is well known as a pugilist here, to the boards for the count in the eighth round of a bout which took place at Home recently before the "Hawkins" came out East. Walters was also runner-up in the welter-weight class of the Army and Navy championships, which was held at Portsmouth early this year. He met his defeat at the hands of Wilkinson. The latter afterwards met "Sky" in a bout in London and was beaten by the Hongkong man.

The next important event of the evening will be a middle-weight contest between Hewitt of the "Alacrity" and Evans of the "Hawkins." Judging from what was claimed for him, and if his reputation is as great as it is stated, Evans is a great man in his class and should give the local boxing "fans" a show for their money. Amongst his other records, Evans was middle-weight champion of the Mediterranean Sea in 1917. Hewitt, on the other hand, is a rank outsider. He claims no starding reputation, but those "in the know" say he is as clever as any middle-weight boxer who has yet stepped into a ring in Hongkong.

The other boxers who are willing to appear at the forthcoming tournament if any opponents can be found for them, are Jack Mason of the "Hawkins," a clever middle-weight, who has the reputation of being amongst the "top-runners" in his class. Seaman Willoughby another good "Hawkins" middle-weight, whose friends claim him to be a potential champion, and Private Wilkins of the "Hawkins" a heavy-weight, who, if he boxes as well as he plays football, ought to be a very tough opponent for any man. In the light-weight class, there is Leading Stoker Decondard of the "Hawkins" who is anxious to arrange a bout with any light-weight in the Colony. "Boy" Fluh and Cotes of the "Hawkins" are clever and fast-fighters, and unless they can find other opponents, will have to fight each other. If a suitable opponent can be found for Stoker Lacks of the "Alacrity," the boxing "fans" will have the opportunity of seeing another welter-weight bout besides the Kerrison-Walters contest, which should alone be a big draw, as Hongkong is dying to see their favourite in action again.

P LICE RAID IN CHINA-TOWN.

Having received some intimation that a number of dangerous characters were in the vicinity of Bonham Strand West, the Police under the command of Mr. C. G. Perdue, A.S.P. went yesterday morning to the Chinese watchmen's quarters. There they discovered seven men, with "bad" faces. They were arrested together with eleven watchmen. It is suspected that the men are associates of the gang of five men who made the daring attack on a money-changer's shop last week. The men are detained pending further enquiries, but the watchmen were subsequently released.

INCIDENT IN THE HARBOUR.

Whenceas, "Sui An," was coming in from Macao on Saturday evening, a Police launch with Sergeant Bond in charge was off Kennedy Town. The Sergeant was looking at the steamer when it was passing by when he saw some person on board waving. He was suspicious, and watched. He saw a launch go up. A parcel was thrown into the water from the stern of the steamer, and a man from the launch jumped in for it. The Sergeant went up and got the man out of the water. The parcel contained opium in tins. The man was arrested. At the Police Court this morning the man was brought before Mr. J. R. Wood, Mr. E. L. Agassiz, who appeared for the defendant, asked that the case be remanded.

His Worship granted the application, and fixed the case for Wednesday at 2.15 p.m.

STREET SNATCHING.

While a number of Chinese ladies were in Ladder Street on Saturday evening, on their way to Queen's Road, a street coolie boldly went up to them, pulled out one of the ear-rings of one of the ladies and ran away. There was a scream and two servants gave chase who turned round a dark corner. The servants followed, calling aloud "Snatching," while running, and two Chinese constables on duty in the street held up the snatcher and arrested him. What is the matter? enquired the constables. "The man snatched the ear-ring of our mistress," was the reply. "Where is the ear-ring now?" asked the men. They had thrown it down. They were led some paces back and the ear-ring was found. The thief was brought to the station. The complainant was present in Court this morning when the man was charged. She and her servants gave evidence, and the magistrate had the case remanded until to-morrow.

SUBMARINES ARRIVE.

The complement of under-water craft for the China Squadron, consisting of six submarines of the "L" class, slid into port about 5 p.m. yesterday, and with them the parent ship "Ambrose," sloop "Margion" and drifter "Moonshine." The flotilla went into the Naval Camber and tied up. It apparently came direct from Singapore, omitting the anticipated call at Manila, leaving there about the 23rd ult. While at that port the public were given an opportunity of inspecting the craft and we can only express the hope that the local authorities will see their way clear to extend a similar courtesy to Hongkong.

The flotilla is officered by: Commander, Cecil P. Talbot, D.S.O.; Lieut.-Commanders, R. C. Hayes, O.B.E., D. F. Jones; Lieutenants, R. B. Martin, J. E. Dicken; Engr.-Commander, H. E. Grant (for duty with Submarines); Engr.-Lieutenant, B. J. A. Wilkinson (for duty with Submarines); Chaplain, The Rev. G. W. B. Starr; Paym.; Commander, E. Boucher; Surg.-Lt.-Commander, T. # MAN OF 66 MADE YOUNG. STORY OF MONKEY TISSUE.

"There are at this moment in France two old men to whom I have restored youthful vigour by grafting upon them certain glands taken from an ape. The operation is simple. A local anesthetic is used. One cuts open the skin, introduces the tissue, and sews up the incision. Nature completes the process by assimilation."

This astounding statement was made to me by Dr. Serge Voronoff, one of the leading experimental surgeons of the day and holder of the important post of the director of the College de France, whose recent lecture on rejuvenation by grafting caused much stir in Paris. It was one of the most impressive statements to which I ever listened.

M. Voronoff had been telling me about his remarkable experiments on goats, and had shown me pictures of an animal in an advanced stage of decrepitude and restored to youthful strength and habits after an operation.

"But I suppose the risk is too great," I said, "for these experiments to be extended to human beings?"

M. Voronoff dropped his voice to the whispered tone of a man who speaks of things of solemn significance. "It has already been done in two cases," he answered, "and with entire success. One of the operations was performed seven and the other three months ago."

"Who are these men?"

"I cannot tell you, for they are private patients of mine."

Of the latter case M. Voronoff said it was too early to speak, but he gave me some details of the other. The man is 66 years old, a Parisian prominent in public affairs, with vitality exhausted by a life of hard work. He was a bowed, decrepit, weak man in senile decay. An operation was performed on him, and "now," said M. Voronoff, "though white hair and wrinkled skin certainly remain, he walks upright with a firm step and with brain clear and active, sleeps well, and has the appetite of a man in the prime of life. He has become, comparatively speaking, young again."

OF INTEREST TO DANCERS.

Under the heading "Too Much Tunes" an American paper says that with the prevailing craze for dancing at all times and places it has become noticeable that women whose blood is thin—anaemic—fill victims to neuritic pains when they dance and are obliged to stop themselves of sleep and outdoor exercise.

The woman who makes great demands on her strength, either by overworking or over-dancing, must keep her blood in condition, or suffer. The pain of neuritis is simply nature's warning that the nervous system is being starved because the blood no longer brings it what it needs. The one most cause of neuritis is debility with anaemia, or bloodlessness.

"Now debility and bloodlessness obviously call for tonic treatment just as weakness calls for strength, and in Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, the most famous blood and nerve tonic in the world, tone of thousands of debilitated, anaemic women—and men too—have found just the help needed. These pills begin at once to enrich the blood, and thus enable it to turn in the nerves and the whole system with the elements needed to restore perfect health. Obtainable of medicine vendors everywhere, and post free a bottle for $1.50, 6 bottles $8.00, from Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., 96 South Street, New York.
